

We had our annual conference for our 150 top managers, gathering from all over the world, in Krakow in 2005. Krzystzof and Magda were recommended to us by the staff of the Sheraton Hotel where we had booked the conference space as well as the rooms for our participants. Since it was also our company's 75th anniversary to celebrate, we indeed had some extraordinary requirements to which Krzystzof and Magda came up to our entire satisfaction. The service they provided together with their hostesses and guides was just excellent (shuttle service from the airport to the hotel for, guided city tours in three different languages, evening events, security, spontaneous special services for participants who wanted to spend an extra day in the Krakow environments, etc.).

We learned very quickly that, if you intend to organize something extraordinary in this country, you need to have somebody on-site acquainted very well with the very special decisive structures, the culture and "dos and don'ts, otherwise you will not succeed.

The whole conference was planned very carefully in advance and the whole organization during the three days went in a very smooth and professional way. Krzystzof and Magda made the impossible becoming true, not only to mention renting the Slowazki Theatre for a dancing performance specially rehearsed for Dachser or the National Gallery for a seated gala dinner but also a Klezmer concert with the famous Jasha Liebermann Trio in the (?) Synagogue. Last but not least they organized a great rural event for us outside Krakow with folkloric music and dance, excellent food and a big party.

Both of them as well as all their staff members really made every effort during the three days to make us and our participants feeling very comfortable and welcome to their country. – Once again: Thank you very much to all of them!
